Eighty nine crisply moulded parts are carried on three sprues, while the two tracks are moulded in rubber.

Photo 2
The tiny decal sheet only has five decals for :- Panzerkampfwagon Pzkw VI Ausf.B 'Konigtiger' King Tiger, 503 Abteilung, Normandy, 1944.

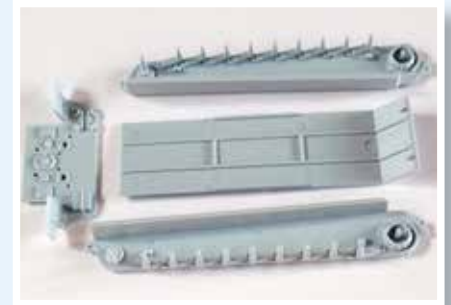

Photo 3
Construction begins with the five part hull.

Photo 4
Once the hull is assembled and painted, the 46 wheels and two tracks can be fitted.

Photo 5
With the tank body cemented to the hull, exhausts and towing eyes are fitted to the rear of the tank.

Photo 6
While a machine gun, search light and more towing eyes are added to the front.

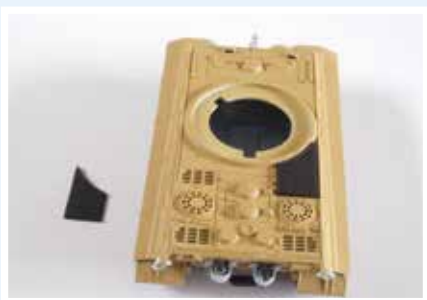

Photo 7
Two engine guards are fixed in position behind the turret ring.

Photo 8
Thirteen parts make up the turret assembly, with careful gluing the gun barrel is free to raise and lower.

Photo 9
The completed turret ready to be fitted into position.
